9. Informed Consent

I hereby request and consent to the performance of acupuncture, massage and other associated procedures on me. I am fully aware that I am participating in these sessions at my own risk, and accept that there may be unintended treatment side effects. I appreciate that it is not possible to consider every possible complication to care. I have been informed that acupuncture is a generally safe method of treatment, but, as with all types of healthcare interventions, there are some risks to care, including, but not limited to: bruising; numbness or tingling near the needling sites; dizziness or fainting. Burns and/or scarring with moxibustion, cupping or the use of heat lamps. Bruising is a common side effect of cupping. Unusual risks of acupuncture include nerve damage and organ puncture, including lung puncture (pneumothorax). Infection is another possible risk, although the clinic uses sterile disposable needles and maintains a clean and safe environment.

My preferred communication route/s is: ☐ Telephone ☐ Text ☐ Email ☐ Other……

I confirm that all information included on this questionnaire is correct to the best of my knowledge.
